Executive Proclamation
Office of the Governor

Whereas, The citizens of the state of South Dakota join together to celebrate the 23rd Annual National Girls and Women in Sports Day in schools and communities across South Dakota; and,

Whereas, This day exists to acknowledge the past and recognize current sports achievements, the positive influence of sports participation, and the continuing struggle for equality and access for women in sports; and,

Whereas, National Girls and Women in Sports Day began in 1987 as a day to remember Olympic volleyball player, Flo Hyman, for her athletic achievements and her commitment to assure equality for women's sports; and,

Whereas, Girls' and women's athletics, at all levels, is one of the most effective avenues available through which girls and women in the United States may develop self-discipline, initiative, confidence, and leadership skills regardless of background; and,

Whereas, The bonds built between girls and women through athletics help to break down the social barriers of racism and prejudice, and the communication and cooperation skills learned play a key role in the athlete's contributions at home, at work, and to society; and,

Whereas, A need for increased opportunities exists for girls to participate in and pursue physical activity at the community and scholastic levels to increase their health and well-being on a daily basis so they are able to develop lifelong fitness habits at an early age; and,

Whereas, This year's theme is "Look Who's Playing":

Now, Therefore, I, M. Michael Rounds, Governor of the state of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim February 4, 2009, as
